If a page on your website no longer exists and you want to redirect it to a new page or website, you can use the dot htaccess file to redirect visitors.

Redirect from a page/directory to another domain or the main domain:

Redirect from a specific page to a domain:

```
RewriteEngine on
Redirect 301 /mypage.html http://example.com

Redirect from one page to another page:

#Redirect from a page/directory to another page
Redirect 301 /oldpage.html /newpage.html

Whenever you open a URL such as example.com/oldpage.html, it will redirect you to example.com/newpage.html.
