Getting started with AEserver AI Builder

AEserver AI Builder · https://www.aeserver.com/support/getting-started-with-aeserver-ai-builder/

You can go from an idea to a first draft of your website or app in a few minutes. The Free plan includes 500,000 credits to use within 30 days and does not need a payment card.

Before you start

- You need an email address you can open. We send your account details and builder link there.
- Each account can have one Free plan. If you used it before, choose Maker or Creator instead.
- Already an AEserver customer? Log in to my.aeserver.com first, so the builder is added to your existing account and you skip the sign-up form.

TipHave a logo, your brand colours or a website you like the look of? Keep them handy. The more the AI knows from the start, the better the first version.

Step 1: Describe your website or app

1. Go to the AEserver AI Builder page.
2. Type what you want in the box at the top, for example: A website for my bakery in Dubai, with a menu and an order form. Not sure where to start? Pick one of the ideas under the box and replace the parts in square brackets, such as [business name], with your own details.
3. Press Start building.

Step 2: Create your free account

Enter your name, email address and a password of at least 8 characters, complete the security check and press the button to create your account. Your idea is shown on the same page, so you can still change it.

- Already logged in? This step is skipped.

- Email already registered? Log in with that email instead (use Forgot password if you need to). You are brought back to finish, and your idea is kept.

Step 3: Your builder opens with your idea

Your account and Free plan are set up straight away and the builder opens with your idea in the chat. Check it, add anything you forgot, and send it. The AI starts building and shows its progress in the chat; the first version can take a few minutes.

When it is ready, look at the preview. Use the device switch above it to see your site on a phone, tablet and computer. Then keep going: ask for what you would like changed, one thing at a time.

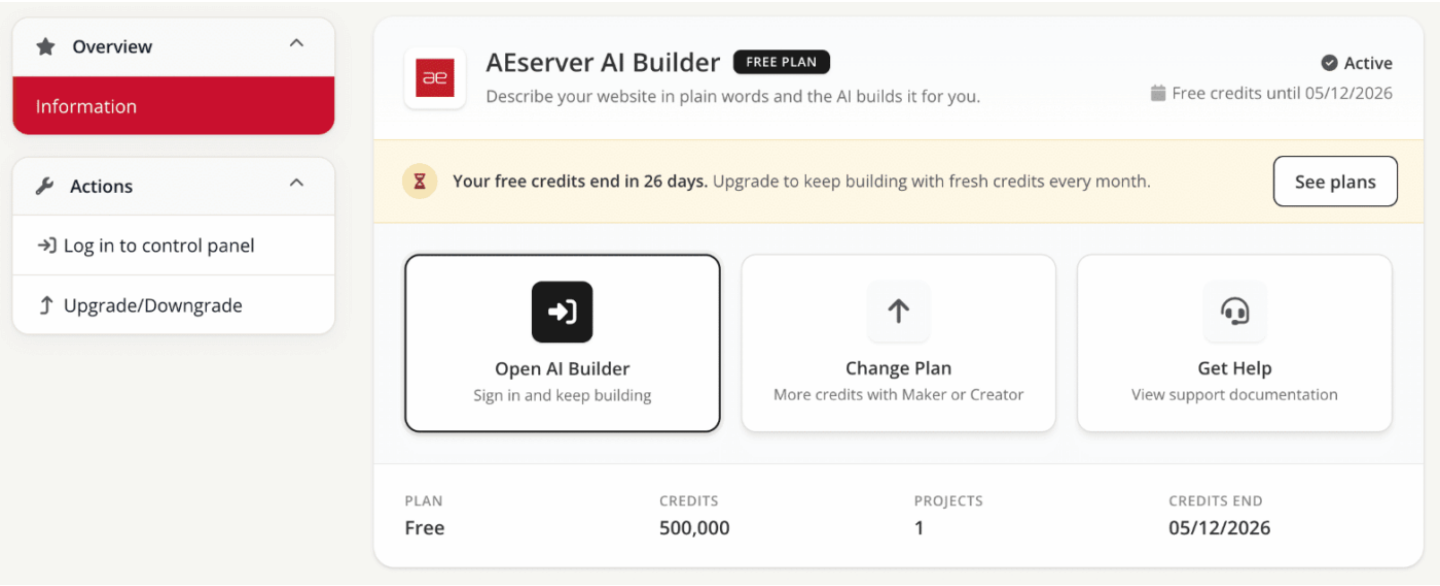

The builder: your chat with the AI on the left, the live preview on the right.

We also send you an email with the subject Your AEserver AI Builder is ready, with a button that opens the builder.

Step 4: Come back to the builder any time

1. Log in to my.aeserver.com.

2. Open My Products and Services and choose AEserver AI Builder.
3. Press Open AI Builder. You are signed in to the builder automatically.

Your AI Builder service page in the AEserver client area.

Choosing how the AI works

Next to the message box is a mode selector. Auto is the default and suits most people.

The mode selector sits next to the message box. Your remaining credits are shown on the right.

Mode	What it does	Use it when

Auto	Builds simple requests straight away and plans bigger ones first	You are not sure, or mixing small and large changes
Plan	Always shows you a plan and waits for your go-ahead	Adding something bigger, such as bookings or user sign-in
Build	Builds straight away, without questions	You know exactly what you want
